

ANNA TRONSON

Anna Tronson is a Mornington Peninsula, Victorian based artist whose work evokes a sense of calm and undeniable happiness. Anna's colourful representations of nostalgic, simple pleasures often include elements of her own farmhouse and country lifestyle. Anna works with acrylic paints and her work depicts elements of her signature repeat patterns, gingham and vibrant palettes. Each piece is presented in a Tasmanian oak or an American elm box frame.

Anna is by no means new to art and design, she has been head designer for her own jewellery brand, Edenborough Evans for the past ten years and has freelanced for many other creative industries and business clients including Nike, Myer, Schweppes and Mercedes Benz. Anna's past creative designs have been stocked all over the world including in London's Harrod's department store and The National Gallery of Victoria.

Anna has been painting for many years in between her other creative projects and is excited to now fully immerse herself into this medium.
